

CardiNor AS appoints Thomas B. Grünfeld as new CEO

Oslo, December 6th, 2023

CardiNor AS has appointed Thomas B. Grünfeld, MD, MPH, as new Chief Executive Officer. Thomas will replace Dag Christiansen who will continue working for CardiNor in a new role as Chief Operating Officer.

CardiNor is at a pivot stage of its development and is strengthening the leadership team to enable more focus on the clinical development and partnerships going forward.

Thomas brings with him experience from start-up MedTech companies both as CEO and board member, most recently from Labrida AS and Observe Medical AS, and has both clinical expertise and other relevant competence. He also brings in 30 years of experience from finance and business development from McKinsey & Co, Kistefos and Sarsia Life Science Fund.

Bjørn Fuglaas, Chairman of the board, states; I am very pleased that Thomas is strengthening the team, and he brings with him crucial competence at this stage of CardiNor's development.